READING

9 Read the article and tick (✓) A, B, or C.

Imagine being able to go back in time and have a little chat with the 17-year-old you. We asked two 30-somethings what advice they would give their younger selves.

Martha Lee

The problem with most 17-year-olds is not that they are wild or rebellious but that they're just so sensitive, and so self-obsessed that even an innocent comment might cause them much emotional pain. So, what I'd tell my younger self is to live a little, relax, and take no notice of what anyone else says. At parties, when I was 17, I'd sit in the corner trying to look grown up and sophisticated instead of enjoying myself. I'd soon put a stop to that if I could go back in time. I'd drag the silly girl up and show her just how much fun dancing in an embarrassing way can be! Mind you, I might have a word with her about how a little lipstick is more appealing than layers and layers, and why that lovely flowery dress didn't suit those awful high-heeled white sandals.

When I was 17, I was constantly worrying about boys. So, I'd tell her to lighten up, forget about them, and spend more time with the girls. I'd love her to know that not having a date on a Saturday night was not the end of the world, and didn't mean she was a loser. And I'd tell her that if a boy she liked didn't fancy her, he was allowed to have that opinion, and that following him around, changing hairstyles, or ringing him up and putting the phone down as soon as he answered wouldn't change anything.

The other thing I'd tell her is that her mother was not an ignorant, embarrassing but loveable idiot, who didn't know what she was talking about, but rather a witty and forgiving woman who was intelligent enough to be amused rather than annoyed at how arrogant and selfish teenagers can be.

Jim Stewart

To be honest with you, I don't think there would be much point in going back in time and talking to me as a 17-year-old, and not because I wouldn't listen. I was always being given advice, but, at that age, however hard I tried, I just couldn't take it in. My world was listening to rock music, cleaning my new motorbike and watching football. Everything else seemed irrelevant. I tried to have ambitions and be sensible, but I really couldn't see why.

But if I did have the chance to talk to tall, skinny, long-haired me, what would I say? Get your hair cut? No, I don't think so, although I would tell the younger me to try to eat more healthily. Not that I was overweight. On the contrary, when I look at old photos I always envy the fact that I managed to wear such tight jeans. Actually, what I'd really want to tell myself is to think bigger and to not limit my horizons. I don't think I was encouraged to take risks and to try to find out what I really wanted to do. Perhaps there was pressure on me to conform, to go to college, to get a good job, that sort of thing.

Oh, and the other thing I'd tell the 17-year-old me is to cut up all my credit cards. I wasn't very good with money and I just didn't realize how quickly you can get into debt. If it hadn't been for my dad, it would have taken years to pay off all the bills I ran up.

Example: The two people asked to give advice are _____.

- A in their teens B aged between 20 and 30
C aged between 30 and 40

- 1 Martha thinks 17-year-olds are _____.
A adventurous B impulsive C easily hurt
- 2 Martha advises her younger self to _____.
A be more mature B be more sensitive to others
C not worry about what others think
- 3 Martha thinks that her younger self _____.
A wore too much lipstick B should have worn trousers rather than dresses
C shouldn't have worn high heels
- 4 Martha thinks her younger self _____.
A took dating too seriously B went out with too many boys
C was a bit of a loser
- 5 If she liked a boy who didn't like her, the young Martha would _____.
A not give up B forget about him by changing her appearance
C refuse to speak to him when he phoned her
- 6 Martha's mother _____.
A was annoyed with the young Martha's selfishness

B laughed at the young Martha C tolerated the young Martha's selfishness
- 7 Jim thinks that his younger self _____.
A refused to listen to anyone
B was too interested in rock music to listen to advice
C didn't know what to do with the advice he received
- 8 These days, Jim _____.
A is not as slim as he was B doesn't wear jeans very often
C has shorter hair

A be more adventurous when deciding what to do
B make sure he worked hard and got a good job
C go to college and finish his studies
